

LUNDS
UNIVERSITET

Introducing a new series of lectures at Lund University

Lessons of History

NOVEMBER 2019 – MAY 2020 | LUX:C126 | HELGONAVÄGEN 3, LUND

8 November 2019, 13.15–15

The Future of the Soviet Past. Can “Doing History” further Reconciliation in Russia?

Professor Nanci Adler | Memory, History and Transnational Justice, University of Amsterdam and NIOD Institute for War, Holocaust and Genocide Studies

29 November 2019, 13.15–15:

Christianity and Crisis: Uses and Abuses of Religion in the Historical Construction of Modern Europe

Professor Jayne Svenungsson | Systematic Theology, Lund University

17 January 2020, 13.15–15

Lessons of Military History: The Soviet World War II Experience and Future Warfare, 1945–2020

Professor Gunnar Åselius | Military History, Swedish Defence University, Stockholm

31 January 2020, 13.15–15

Learning from History in Diplomacy

Professor Emeritus Christer Jönsson | Department of Political Science, Lund University

14 February 2020, 13.15–15

Forensic Truth: Polish Debates about Exhumation in Jedwabne

Professor Eva Domanska | Human Sciences, Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznan

13 March 2020, 13.15–15

Topographies of Terror, or: How to Read Landscapes in 20th Century East Central Europe

Professor Karl Schlögel | History, Viadrina European University, Frankfurt an der Oder

17 April 2020, 13.15–15

Remembering an Unbearable Past: Lessons from Nazi History for the Present and Future

Professor Thomas Sandkühler | History, Humboldt University, Berlin

15 May 2020, 13.15–15

Lessons of History?

Professor François Hartog | History, EHESS, Paris

The lecture series is part of the research project “The Historical Lessons of Communism and Nazism”, financed by the Marcus and Amalia Wallenberg Foundation. The series has also received generous sponsorship from the Centre for European Studies, Lund University, the Royal Society of Letters at Lund, and the Fahlbeck Foundation, Lund.

For further information please contact Klas-Göran Karlsson (klas-goran.karlsson@hist.lu.se) and Maria Karlsson (maria.karlsson@hist.lu.se).

